People of Suffolk County

The Human Rights Commission is pleased to present our Annual Report for 2013, detailing the work and accomplishments of our agency.

The Commission, which proudly reached its 50th Anniversary in 2013, has seen its role in the community and its role in the enforcement of anti-discrimination laws greatly evolve since its inception as the "Human Relations Commission" in 1963.

Along with numerous community groups and individuals who are dedicated to human rights, we continue to increase our efforts to promote fair housing, employment rights, and the strong enforcement of all the laws prohibiting discrimination. We do this through our community involvement and, of course, through our main responsibility, the investigation and resolution of complaints of unlawful discrimination. In 2013, the Human Rights Commission provided assistance to nearly 2,200 individuals and investigated 145 newly filed complaints of unlawful discrimination.

The Commission is grateful for the strong commitment to equal rights held by Suffolk County Executive Steven Bellone and the members of the Suffolk County Legislature. We recognize that our work would not be possible without the support we receive from each of you.

We assure you that we will continue to work diligently and remain steadfast in our commitment to further human rights and achieve equal opportunity for all.

THE WORK OF OUR AGENCY

There are two key methods the Suffolk County Human Rights Commission (SCHRC) uses to further its mission to prevent and eliminate unlawful discrimination, and to promote goodwill among the county's increasingly diverse residents.

First, the Commission attempts to conciliate or resolve every complaint of discrimination filed to the benefit of all parties concerned. Where conciliation or early resolution is not possible, the Commission's highly trained investigators act diligently to gather evidence to support a finding on the merits. By maintaining working relationships with other agencies that enforce anti-discrimination legislation at the state and federal levels, duplication of services is avoided. Suffolk County residents do not have to travel into New York City to file a federal charge, because they can file both a state and federal charge right here at the SCHRC offices in Hauppauge or Riverhead.

It is vitally important to have effective local enforcement of anti-discrimination laws by a staff familiar with local issues and concerns. The importance of providing personal and timely service to those in distress, many of whom have lost their livelihoods, cannot be underestimated. The Commission prides itself not only on its ability to process complaints within a concise timeframe, but also on its impartiality, level of professionalism, and the thoroughness of its investigations.

The second way we further our mission is through community outreach and by providing technical assistance to organizations and individuals to encourage voluntary compliance with the law. The Commission actively works to promote positive intergroup relations and to prevent racial tensions and community conflict related to bigotry and intolerance. We continue to work closely with businesses, government agencies, schools, private organizations, and community groups to foster equal opportunity. We provide training on various topics related to discrimination and the human rights law and staff is available to help employers and business owners who contact us with questions related to discrimination, to assist them in understanding how to remain in compliance with the law.

THE INVESTIGATIVE PROCESS

INTAKE

The first step in the process is Intake. Individuals who believe that they have been discriminated against may telephone, write, email, or come into our office and speak to an investigator about their situation. An extensive intake interview is conducted to obtain all the pertinent facts, explain our process and advise the complainant of available options.

Unlike some other government agencies, the Suffolk County Human Rights Commission is a neutral fact-finding agency and is not an advocate for those who have filed charges. While the Commission respects the fact that those individuals who make allegations believe they have been discriminated against, in order for the Commission to determine probable cause, there must be evidence to show that the alleged discriminatory basis was the reason for the respondent's actions. The complainant's belief alone is not sufficient to establish that.

INFORMAL INQUIRY

Often, a situation arises that is not within SCHRC's area of jurisdiction. In those situations, our staff members carefully evaluate the information and make appropriate referrals to other agencies that can better serve the individual's immediate needs.

In other instances, the problem can be resolved without the need for a formal complaint. A great number of our cases never have to go to a formal filing. At the local level, we have the flexibility to attempt to clarify the situation and/or to settle the matter by sending a letter of inquiry to the respondent and subsequent conversations with both parties. This method is very effective in weeding out complaints that have little or no merit or which turn out to be non-jurisdictional. On the other hand, cases that present strong evidence early on to substantiate the complainant's allegations can often be settled quickly, to the benefit of both parties.

COMPLAINT FILED

When the situation cannot be resolved informally, or when the individual wishes to file a formal complaint, the intake investigator will secure all relevant information available from the individual and draft a formal complaint for the complainant's notarized signature. Depending upon the circumstances of the complaint, these formal charges may be filed under local, state, and/or federal law. The complaint is served on the respondent by mail, along with a request for necessary records and documentation.

RESPONDENT'S ANSWER and COMPLAINANT'S REBUTTAL

The respondent has fifteen days to file a formal answer to the charges. The Commission will grant reasonable extensions of time under certain circumstances.

Once received, the answer filed by the respondent is usually sent to the complainant, along with a request for their written rebuttal. If the complainant has difficulty, they are encouraged to meet with the investigator to give a verbal rebuttal. The rebuttal process can also be undertaken by telephone or by e-mail.

INVESTIGATION

Every complainant is offered the opportunity to show that the alleged discriminatory basis was the reason for the respondent's actions. However, the Commission ultimately determines the level of investigation necessary to address the issues raised.

The investigation includes securing relevant documents and obtaining other pertinent data necessary to address the charges. Relevant witnesses are contacted and interviewed about the circumstances surrounding the complaint. Their statements can be a valuable tool in ascertaining the validity of a charge.

Although the Commission has subpoena power, this power is rarely, if ever, used. In our experience, most respondents are cooperative and those that are not usually send the requested documents once they learn that a subpoena will be forthcoming if they do not.

FACT-FINDING CONFERENCE

In some cases, the next step of the investigation is a two party fact-finding conference. At the conference, the Commission identifies disputed points and determines what additional evidence is necessary to resolve those issues. A fact-finding conference is not a formal hearing, but the parties are informed that all information gathered at the conference will be used to evaluate the merits of the complaint. Attorneys from both sides are permitted to be present, but may not answer questions for their clients, who are expected to respond directly to the Commission's questions.

In some instances, the investigation produces sufficient evidence through site visits, witness interviews and documentary evidence, rendering a fact-finding conference unnecessary.

VOLUNTARY SETTLEMENT

The Commission always encourages early and ongoing settlement efforts, which benefit both parties. The respondent benefits by avoiding lengthy, potentially expensive litigation, which can run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, even if they prevail. The complainant receives the benefit of settlement without having to wait years for resolution of their complaint. They also avoid the expense of attorney's fees and avoid the risk of losing the case and getting nothing in the end.

RECOMMENDED FINDING

When the investigation is completed, the information that has been gathered is carefully analyzed and documented, and the investigator prepares an investigative report along with recommended findings.

FINDINGS

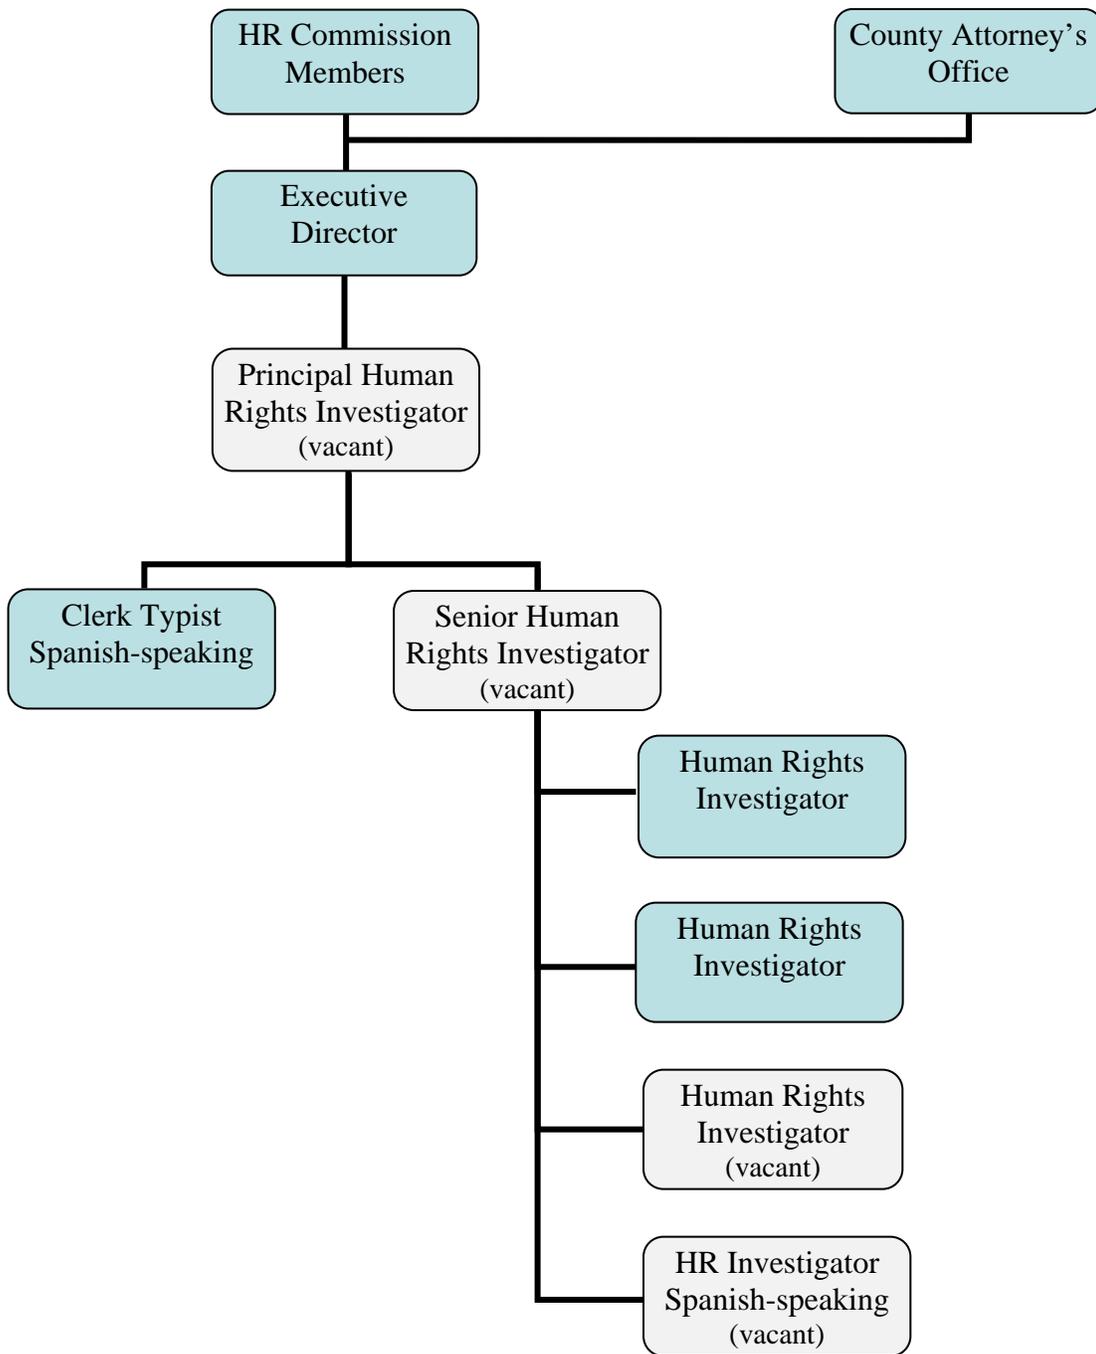

The executive director reviews the file and the investigative report, and if she agrees with the findings, she signs off on the report. The Commission's recommended findings are then submitted to the NY State Division of Human Rights, who will either concur or reverse the findings of the Commission. (It is very rare that the state does not concur with our findings.) If the State Division concurs with our "no probable cause" finding, then the case is closed. If they concur with a "probable cause" finding, the case is scheduled for a formal public hearing before an administrative law judge. The administrative law judge has the authority to compel the respondent to make restitution to the complainant, in whatever amount the judge deems appropriate.

In housing cases filed under the county's local law, however, the Commission issues the final determination. Where probable cause has been determined, a hearing before an administrative law judge will be held at the county level, and fines may also be imposed.

APPEAL

If it is determined that there is no probable cause to believe that an unlawful act of discrimination has occurred, then the complaint is dismissed and the party is provided with information explaining the timeframes and process for filing an appeal in court.

2013 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

In 2013, the Human Rights Commission celebrated its 50th Anniversary. Our advocacy for the rights of all Suffolk County residents and our work to end bias and discrimination was recognized by County Executive Bellone and the County Legislature. County Executive Bellone declared 2013 “The Year for Human Rights.”

- Throughout the year, Commission Staff assisted Suffolk County residents with various issues, responding to nearly 2,195 requests for assistance and investigating 145 complaints alleging discrimination in employment, housing, and public accommodations.
- Our active enforcement led to the closure of more than 150 cases and the early settlement and resolution of numerous complaints, to the benefit of both parties. Some examples of benefits received by Complainants prior to a hearing were: reinstatement of employment; recovery of lost wages (front and/or back pay); payment of medical benefits; reasonable accommodations for disabilities and in other cases for religious necessity; and changes in policies and/or procedures which improved the work or housing environment.
- Working through the Suffolk County Anti-Bias Task Force (a committee of the Human Rights Commission since 2012), Commission members met with Town officials and community members to promote and assist in the revitalization of Town Anti-Bias Task Forces.
- The Commission worked with local schools to further develop initiatives which embrace diversity and to establish human rights, anti-bullying and social justice programs, such as the Junior Human Rights Commission program.
- The Commission collaborated with other agencies and community groups to plan and organize important events highlighting diversity and equal rights, such as “Suffolk County Unity Day,” “Embracing Our Differences” and “Our Immigrant Nation.” These events promoted a deeper understanding of who our new immigrant neighbors are and how we can work together to build strong Long Island communities.
- The Commission hosted two successful awards programs recognizing numerous individuals in the community and schools for their outstanding commitment to human rights and their service to others.
- The Commission maintained an informative website that is regularly updated, with information helpful to complainants, respondents, and members of the public - www.SuffolkHumanRights.org
- The Commission expanded outreach through social media creating two Facebook pages – one for the Commission and one for the Anti-Bias Task Force.

COMMISSION MEMBERS

The Suffolk County Human Rights Commission was created in 1963 pursuant to New York State's General Municipal Law. The Commission has a paid staff including an Executive Director, Investigators and Clerical staff who carry out the investigations and other work of the agency. It also consists of fifteen Commission members, whose role is to set policy for the agency and to advocate for equality for all Suffolk residents. These fifteen dedicated individuals, who are appointed by the County Executive and approved by the Suffolk County Legislature, volunteer their time to serve on the Commission for three-year terms. Many members have served several consecutive terms, and each has remained active and committed.

We are proud of the talented and diverse group of individuals who make room in their busy lives to commit themselves to the work of human rights.

RABBI DR. STEVEN A. MOSS, CHAIRPERSON, was appointed to the Human Rights Commission in 1992. Rabbi Moss has served at the B'nai Israel Reform Temple in Oakdale as its spiritual leader since 1972. He was initially appointed Chairperson of the County's Anti-Bias Task Force by former County Executive Patrick Halpin, and has been appointed Chair (and later Co-Chair) of the Task Force for each of the subsequent years by County Executives Robert Gaffney and Steve Levy. He serves as Chief of Chaplains for the Suffolk County Police Department, the Chiefs of Police Association, the Police Association, and serves as chaplain to many local hospitals and senior facilities. He received his undergraduate degree from New York University, and his graduate degrees and ordination from the Hebrew Union College in New York. He was the recipient of the District Attorney's Distinguished Citizen Award, and Chaplain of the Year 1987 and Rabbi of the Year 2007 awards, given by the New York Board of Rabbis. In 2009, he received the Lehman-LaGuardia Award for Civic Achievement. In 2003, he was appointed to the Board of the Suffolk Center on the Holocaust, Diversity, and Human Understanding. He is the longest sitting member of the Islip Town Board of Ethics. He is Chair of the Islip Town Anti-Bias Task Force and Vice Chair of the Suffolk Center for the Holocaust, Diversity and Human Understanding.

Throughout the years, she has been an active participant and supporter of many civic, cultural and educational organizations including, but not limited to, the American Association for Affirmative Action, New York State Financial Aid Administrators Association, Long Island Next Generation Housing Committee, Erase Racism, Jack and Jill of America, Inc., the Long Island Urban League and in 2011 she was appointed to the County

Executive's African-American Advisory Board. She also chaired New York State's Regional Affirmative Action Officers. Ms. Walker-Belgrave is a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and she is a member and former Trustee of Living Hope Fellowship Missionary Baptist Church, where she also served as Christian Education leader and is currently the External Affairs Liaison.

YU-WAN WANG, Ed.D. has more than twenty-five years of work experience that literally spans the globe. A product of China's Cultural Revolution, she learned early about the importance of education and the need to take risks to satisfy intellectual desire. Dr. Wang holds a B.S. in Business Administration, a Masters of Library and Information Science, and an Ed.D. Dr. Wang, who was born in Northern China, gained corporate and academic experience in the United States and in Taiwan. Her corporate experience includes serving as an information coordinator for McKinsey & Co. There, she prioritized client services information requests from around the world. Later she went on to serve as a Consultant for the Taipei City government where she defined the role and direction of the International Commission, formulated strategic plans and directed international programs. After serving as the Director of a library in Pennsylvania, Dr. Wang became an Instructor at Fu-Jen Catholic University in Taiwan. From 2002-2009 she was Director of International Student & Scholar Services at Dowling College. Currently, Dr. Wang is Associate Dean for International Admissions at Stony Brook University. Dr. Wang's memberships and professional activities include a Fulbright Life Membership, Association of International Educators (NAFSA), Rotary International and Women's International Network. She is also the recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship, and a Woman of the Year award from the Islip Town Council.

MISSION STATEMENT

It shall be the duty of the Commission . . .

To foster mutual respect and understanding among all groups in the community, regardless of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, marital status or sexual orientation.

To make such studies in any field of human relationship in the community as, in the judgment of the Commission, will aid in effectuating its general purposes and, where desirable, to make the results of such studies public.

To inquire into incidents of tension and conflict among or between various groups arising out of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, marital status or sexual orientation and to take such action as may be designated to alleviate such tensions and conflicts.

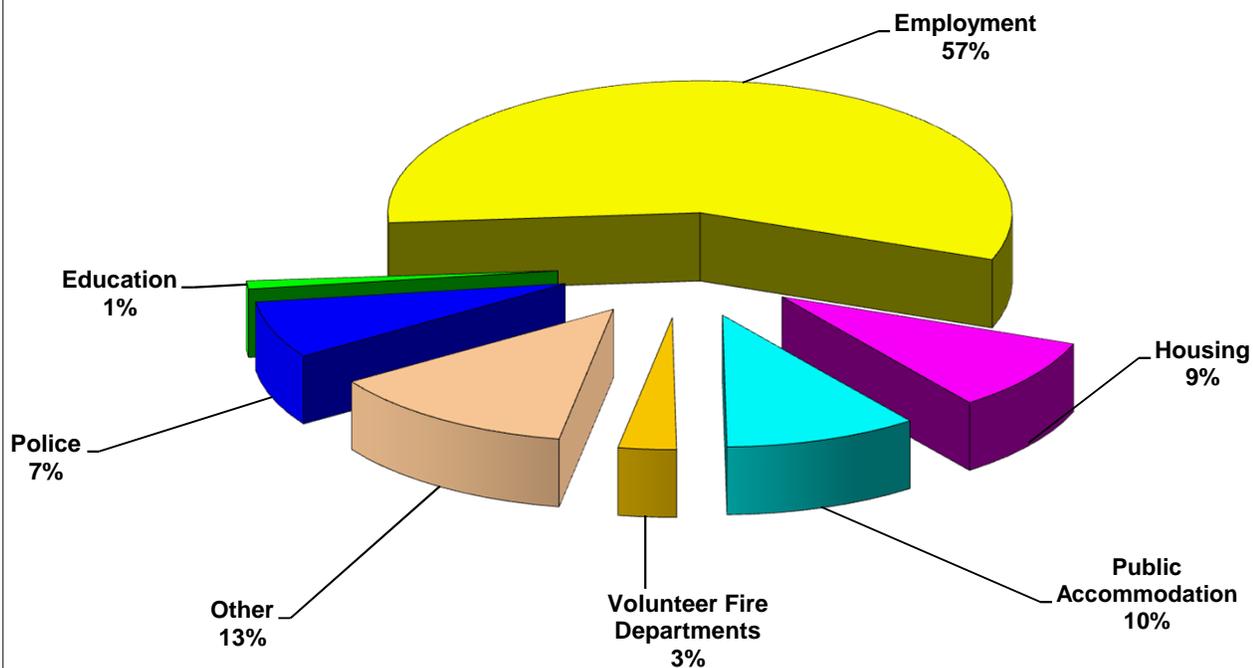

To conduct and recommend such educational programs as, in the judgment of the Commission, will increase goodwill among inhabitants of the community and open new opportunities into all phases of community life for all inhabitants.

To receive, accept, use, administer, and expend public grants and private gifts, donations, or bequests and other payments, goods, and services when authorized by local law or resolution of the County Legislature.

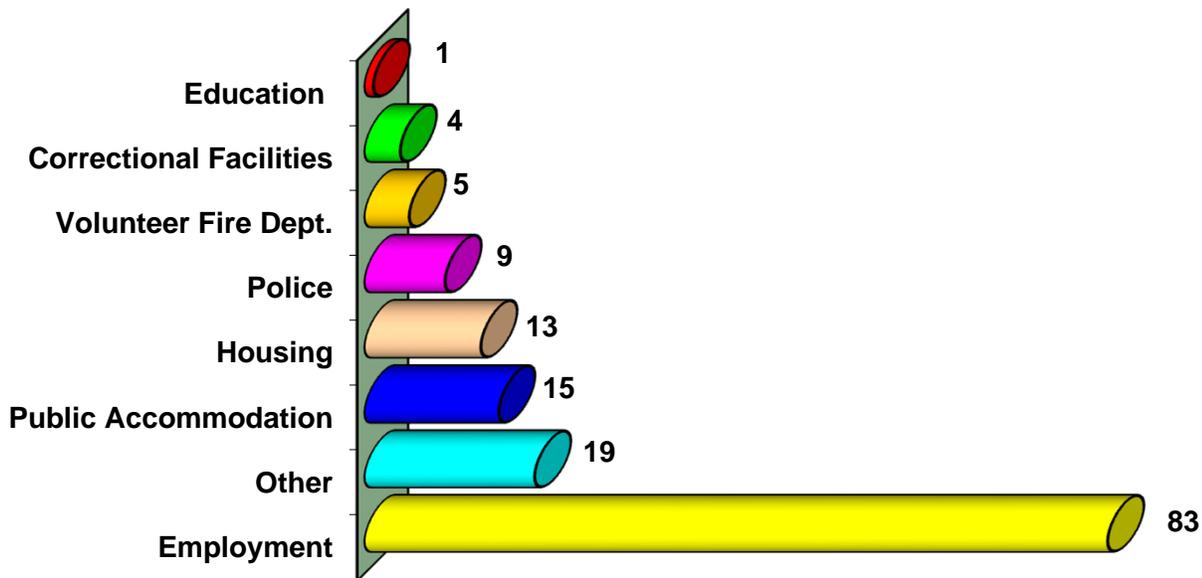

To investigate complaints and to report them to the New York State Division of Human Rights and/or to other public bodies so empowered, and investigate such cases alleging unlawful discrimination practices under Article 15 of the New York State Executive Law and related anti-discrimination laws.

To issue and promulgate such rules and regulations as it shall deem necessary and appropriate for the purpose of establishing procedures for the enforcement of Human Rights Local Law.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND EVENTS

During the year, the Suffolk County Human Rights Commission Members and Staff worked with numerous organizations and participated in many community events. By interacting with various groups on a regular basis, we are able to disseminate information to the public about the services our agency provides, increase the visibility of the Commission, and become more aware of the concerns of various communities; all of which is crucial to our mandate.

The Commission Members and Staff have always viewed outreach as a vitally important component of our mission, and throughout the year the Commission continued its commitment to maintain and foster a positive relationship with all the diverse communities in Suffolk County and to lend our assistance at the grassroots level. Below is a sample of our outreach activities in 2013:

We maintained a regular presence at the meetings of various agencies and community groups including the Suffolk County Disabilities Advisory Board, the Dignity for All Students Committee, various Town Anti-Bias Task Forces, and The Suffolk Center on the Holocaust, Diversity, & Human Understanding, as well as monthly community meetings at various police precincts throughout the county. We also arranged to have tables at various other community events to display our brochures, flyers and other educational materials.

We participated in numerous educational and cultural events focused on human rights and highlighting diversity. Some of the events we attended in 2013 include:

- ❖ The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Annual Memorial Breakfast
- ❖ The Touro College Jacob D. Fuchsberg Law Center Public Interest/Government Job/Internship Fair
- ❖ Town of Huntington Black History Month Celebration
- ❖ Eastern Suffolk BOCES Annual Strategic Planning Council Meeting
- ❖ Law Day at Touro Law School
- ❖ The opening of LIGALY's East End Center in Sag Harbor
- ❖ Our Immigrant Nation Event, an initiative of Welcoming Long Island and Long Island Wins
- ❖ Suffolk County Unity Day
- ❖ Long Island Housing Services' Open House Event
- ❖ Embracing Our Differences
- ❖ Second Annual National Welcoming Week on Long Island
- ❖ Nassau County Human Rights Commission's Iftar Event

- ❖ Masjid Darul Quran in Bay Shore, Ramadhan Event
- ❖ Suffolk County Anti-Bias Task Force Awards Convocation
- ❖ Navigating Your Community Information Fair

PRESENTATIONS

The Staff of the Commission presents trainings about the Human Rights Law and the services our agency provides to various community groups, educational institutions, and businesses. In 2013, we made several presentations on Human Rights and unlawful discrimination, including those to new recruits at the Suffolk County Police Academy and to consumers at a local Pederson-Krag Center. We also conducted a presentation in Spanish to community members at the Mastic/Shirley Community Library.

STAFF DEVELOPMENT

In terms of staff development, in 2013 members of our investigative staff had the opportunity to participate in trainings and a conference on Language Access for Individuals with Limited English Proficiency, and to attend informational seminars on issues related to victims of Human Trafficking and Health Disparities and to receive training on investigative methods and important legal updates provided by the New York State Division of Human Rights.

2013 AWARDS DINNER

On May 16th, we held our bi-annual Awards Dinner at Villa Lombardi's in Holbrook, led by our Chairperson Rabbi Dr. Steven A. Moss and our Master of Ceremonies and Awards Dinner Committee Chair, Dr. Augustus G. Mantia. It was, indeed, our privilege to recognize the phenomenal contributions to human rights that our esteemed honorees make each and every day. In addition, we were honored to have Assistant Deputy County Executive Luis Montes provide the Keynote Address and to have Rev. JoAnn Barrett of the Gathering of Light Multifaith Spiritual Fellowship give a heartwarming invocation. Throughout the evening, we also enjoyed beautiful and artistic dance performances by the very talented members of the El Teatro Rodante Hispanico Dance Company.

The SCHRC's objective is to work toward the elimination of bias and discrimination. We investigate complaints alleging violations of federal, state, and local human rights laws, mainly in the areas of employment, housing, and public accommodation.

If you have been a victim of discrimination because of your race, color, creed, religion, national origin, disability, age, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, familial status, military status, arrest or conviction record, or predisposing genetic characteristics, or because you are a victim of domestic violence, please call our office to speak with an investigator or contact us through our website.

We also provide training and technical assistance to organizations and individuals to promote and encourage voluntary compliance with the law and to promote positive intergroup relations.
