LEGISLATOR HAHN TO HOST LIFESAVING DRUG OVERDOSE TRAINING SEMINAR

PORT JEFFERSON STATION, NY – In the continuing battle against the opiate and painkiller epidemic, health officials will offer to the public a free Naloxone training session hosted by Suffolk County Legislator Kara Hahn. The seminar will be held at Comsewogue Public Library on March 31, 2015 at 7 pm and will teach participants how to recognize an overdose and how to administer Naloxone, an opioid antagonist that can reverse the effects of an overdose, more commonly known as Narcan.

In 2013, Legislator Kara Hahn sponsored legislation that allowed the Department of Health Services to obtain New York State’s approval to become a certified Narcan training center and teach individuals about the warning signs of an opiate overdose as well as how to administer treatments to victims. This followed the success of an expanded Narcan pilot program that Legislator Hahn established the previous year. That program is credited with saving over 250 lives to date.

“It is important that non-medical personnel get trained to administer Narcan because it is often the family and friends of a victim who are first on the scene when someone is overdosing,” Legislator Hahn said. “I believe that there needs to be as many people as possible trained on what to do if they encounter such a horrific situation.”

Pre-registration is required for this free training. To register please call Legislator Hahn’s office at (631) 854-1650.
