MEDIA ADVISORY

Southold Town and Legislator Al Krupski to Host Community Forum on Helicopter Noise

Supervisor Scott Russell and the Town Board will host a public meeting with Suffolk County Legislator Al Krupski to discuss the development of solutions to address noise abatement and the reduction of helicopter traffic. The prevalence of helicopters and the associated noise has diminished the quality of life for many North Fork residents.

Speakers include Adam Santiago, District Director for Congressman Tim Bishop's office, Kyle Strober, Director, Long Island District Office for Senator Charles Schumer and Debbie Tinnirello, Long Island Regional Director for Senator Kirsten Gillibrand. In addition, several Citizen Advisory Council members from communities of the South Fork will provide their perspective as well as airplane pilot Joseph Fishetti.

In an effort to accommodate all interested parties, panelists will speak for a total of five minutes and residents will have three minutes to ask questions or offer comments.
