Mount Sinai High School Students Recognized by Legislator Sarah Anker for Philanthropic Efforts

Mount Sinai, NY, December 2012 – Suffolk County Legislator Sarah Anker and Cablevision’s MSG Varsity and Power to Learn recognized Mount Sinai High School students for their participation in Charity Champions, a program that promotes volunteerism and encourages local high schools to raise funds for a charity of their choice.

Cablevision presented $500 to members of the Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) club for continuance of their charitable activities, as well as $1000 to be donated to Holiday Magic.

Holiday Magic is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to providing those in need on Long Island with gifts for the holidays. Each year, Holiday Magic works with over 20 different local not-for-profit agencies that specialize in sheltering and assisting displaced and/or homeless children and their families.

Legislator Anker recognized the students for their dedication to the charity.

“This holiday season is an especially difficult one for so many families, in light of Hurricane Sandy,” said Legislator Anker. “More than ever, shelters on Long Island are filled with homeless families who are struggling. Thanks to the efforts of these young people, the holidays will be brighter for many local children in need.”
