(DEER PARK, NY... December 20, 2010) – Citing their scholastic and service achievements, and commending them for their displays of leadership and character, Suffolk County Legislator Lou D'Amaro (D-North Babylon) recently joined with current students, teachers, administrators and other elected officials to help induct 44 Deer Park High School students into The National Honor Society (NHS).

Established in 1921, NHS honors those students who have demonstrated excellence in Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character, according to the organization's charter. It is estimated that more than 1 million students participate in National Honor Society activities. Chapter membership not only recognizes students for their academic accomplishments, but also challenges them to develop further through active involvement in school activities and community service.

Legislator D'Amaro joined Deer Park School District Superintendent Eva Demyen, Deer Park High School Principal James Cummings, Advisor James Henry, Babylon Town Clerk Carol Quirk and fellow Suffolk Legislator Steve Stern (D-Huntington) at the 49th Annual NHS Induction Ceremony where he presented the new inductees with Proclamations.

"It is always a privilege to meet and congratulate the newest members of the Deer Park High School National Honor Society," said D'Amaro, a Deer Park High School graduate. "These outstanding students serve as role-models for their peers and the entire community. They are extremely deserving of our praise, appreciation and respect."
