under the motto "Service Above Self," Rotary International is the world's first service club organization with more than 1.2 million members in 33,000 clubs worldwide.

Legislator D'Amato has served as keynote speaker at several Rotary club events, presenting information and answering questions about Suffolk County issues of interest and concern for the local business leaders. He has discussed the County's budget challenges and provided updates on various environmental issues and health initiatives that he has championed during his six-year tenure in the Legislature.

In December, Legislator D'Amato joined the Melville Rotary to show his support when the organization was recognized as a local leader in community service by the Long Island business group Advancement for Commerce, Industry & Technology (ACIT). Current President Dr. Veronica Henry and past President JoAnn Slavin invited him to become an honorary member.

"I am humbled and proud to be named an honorary member of the Melville Rotary," said Legislator D'Amato. "I have always been impressed with the abundance of volunteer time put in by Rotarians, who continuously share their energy and expertise to help the local community despite their busy schedules. I pledge to share in this commitment."
