Babylon High School students, administrators, local youth athletes and Board of Education members in a show of “Bulldog Pride” for the annual North Babylon High School Homecoming Parade on Saturday, September 28th. Beginning on Garnet Street with the Suffolk County Police Department and the North Babylon Fire Department leading the way, Legislator D’Amaro marched with new high school principal Jonathan Klomp down Deer Park Avenue to the high school as spectators filled the sidelines in a show of community spirit. The Bulldogs went on to defeat local rivals Copiague High School, 39-8, in the football game held later that day.

“As a North Babylon resident, I was again proud to march along with my neighbors in the annual Homecoming parade,” said Legislator D’Amaro. “It was wonderful to witness and experience the spirit and enthusiasm from all who came out to support North Babylon High School. Go Bulldogs!”
