distinguished alumni of the South Huntington School District were recently selected as the 2014 Class of the South Huntington Hall of Fame. The Induction Ceremony was held before family, friends, students and the entire community just prior to the Walt Whitman High School Homecoming Football game on Saturday, Oct. 18.

Suffolk Legislator Lou D'Amaro (D-Huntington Station) joined Huntington Councilwoman Susan Berland in providing congratulatory remarks at the public ceremony on the Walt Whitman High School football field. Chosen by a special selection committee, members of this year's class are: Steven Axman '65, Christopher Cerrone '02, NYS Assemblyman Chad Lupinacci '97, Dr. Michael Macari '98 (posthumously), Brenda L. Moore '68, Jane M. (O'Donnell) Reich '78 and Genevieve Walker-Lightfoot '90. The South Huntington School District Hall of Fame inducted its first class in 2008.

"These remarkable individuals are role models who have brought pride and honor to South Huntington, the community where they began their paths to excellence," Legislator D'Amaro said. "I am proud to offer my congratulations on behalf the residents of my legislative district and all of Suffolk County."
