Selden, NY – The office of Legislator Tom Muratore (R- Ronkonkoma), along with other community members and elected officials, recently joined the Lake Ronkonkoma Heritage Association in recognizing two sites as historic landmarks: the Lake Ronkonkoma Fire District Building (Formerly National Bank of Lake Ronkonkoma), and Agnew and Taylor, a hardware store on the corner of Portion Road and Hawkins Avenue.

“Our community is rich in history, and I am happy to see these sites declared historic landmarks,” stated Legislator Tom Muratore. “I’d like to thank Elyn Okvist and the Lake Ronkonkoma Heritage Association for preserving this history as a legacy to future generations.”
