Legislator Martinez Attends Groundbreaking Ceremony of the STEM and Renewable Energy Center at Suffolk County Community College

(Brentwood, NY): Legislator Monica R. Martinez along with other elected officials attended the groundbreaking ceremony of the STEM and Renewable Energy Center at Suffolk County Community College-Grant Campus. The STEM center will provide students from Suffolk County the opportunity to a higher education and opportunity to excel in the realms of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

“It will afford them the opportunity to compete with other students across the state and nation and expand the workforce. Suffolk County Community College has been expanding their educational programs and departments for the betterment of its students. In May of this year, the College built a Resource Center/Library and now has opened the STEM Center as part of their academia,” stated Legislator Martinez.
