Central Islip, NY: Suffolk County Legislator Kevin McCaffrey (R-Lindenhurst) recently participated in a graduation ceremony of the Suffolk County Drug Treatment Court. The ceremony marked the completion of an intensive rehabilitation program, which has provided its graduates with the tools they will need to lead healthy, happy, and productive lives.

During the ceremony, the judges who play a crucial role in the Drug Treatment Court, expressed their commitment to the program and their excitement to see another group of graduates being added to a long list of success stories. Additionally, Elisandra Fini, a past graduate of the program, gave a very moving testimonial about her struggle with drug abuse, and how the Drug Treatment Court allowed her to regain control of her life. Elisandra is now pursuing her dreams in college, and she was very proud to mention that she has been maintaining a 4.0 GPA.

“The drug epidemic on Long Island is touching individuals from all ages and walks of life,” said McCaffrey. “Thankfully, today’s graduates of the Drug Treatment Court show us that there is a lot of hope for those who need it. I commend the graduates and all of the supportive volunteers and professionals that make this program a success. I will continue to work closely with the program and do everything that I can to support it through my work in the Suffolk County Legislature.”

According to the Suffolk County website, the Drug Treatment Court is “...designed to provide early intervention to drug-using offenders and to provide case management, intensive supervision, immediate treatment and education as an alternative to incarceration.” Source: <http://www.suffolkcountyny.gov/Departments/Probation/CriminalCourtPrograms/DrugTreatmentCourt.aspx>.
