Lindenhurst, NY: Suffolk County Legislator Kevin McCaffrey and other local officials recently joined with the friends and members of Evangel Church of God for their annual Easter egg hunt. The event took place at the Fireman's Pavilion in Lindenhurst and was attended by many excited children along with their parents. Although the weather was a bit chilly and windy, it did not prevent anyone from enjoying their time outside during this holiday weekend.

“The tradition of hunting for Easter eggs is something that can be enjoyed by people of all ages and faith backgrounds,” said McCaffrey. “Nothing signals the beginning of the spring season quite like an egg hunt, as it brings together the young and the old alike; it reminds us that we can soon expect the flowers to bloom and the weather to warm up. I would like to wish everyone the happiest holiday season, whether they celebrate Easter, Passover, or just time with friends and family.”

The Evangel Church of God has been a noteworthy fixture in the community for years. The positive effects of their services reach far beyond the mere four walls of their church building. For example, during the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy, the church was there to assist in the recovery efforts by collecting and distributing much needed supplies. Their compassionate and generous presence brought a sense of calm and hope amidst the disaster. Today, the church continues its tradition of civic leadership through its participation in the Village of Lindenhurst’s Drug Task Force and its sponsorship of various social events for youths and families.
