“Habitat for Humanity of Suffolk represents everything that makes Suffolk County one of the greatest places to live,” said McCaffrey. “The process that this organization goes through to meet its goals necessitates finding extremely generous and talented people from our nearby communities; apparently there is no shortage of this resource. The amount of dedicated, generous, and compassionate people that come forward to help their neighbors never ceases to impress me. We truly owe Habitat for Humanity of Suffolk and its supporters a debt of gratitude.”

According to their website, Habitat for Humanity of Suffolk has been active in the community for 25 years. Since its efforts began in Suffolk County, the organization has enabled more than 175 low income families to live in a home of their own. Source: http://www.habitatsuffolk.org/about/about_us
