Providing a Network & Empowering Women

Greenlawn, NY- In recognition of March being National Women's History Month, Legislator Spencer hosted his annual Women's Health & Information Fair on Thursday, March 26, 2015 at the Dolan Family Health Center in Greenlawn. The event, which ties the importance of reflecting on women's history to the importance of the health of modern women, presented information and support to visitors of all ages and walks of life.

"Women's History Month is a time to pay tribute to the generations of trailblazing women who stirred our country to make great strides towards women's equality" said Legislator Spencer. "While much has been accomplished in the last century, we must continue to advance opportunities. Making sure that the women in our lives are healthy and have access to services and information they need to maintain their health is crucial to this mission."

The fair featured representatives from 27 not-for-profit and government agencies who dedicate their time to providing assistance with issues relating to health, safety, self-esteem, legal matters, business, success, housing, mental health and much more. It was a successful occasion which connected over 120 residents with information needed to navigate challenges and take control of their own health and well-being.
